RFD: I evaluate the offense first. It however becomes a wash p/c Madeline's arg is not constant or clear in the 1st or 2nd so wash. So I go to the top of the flow about the argument about rules being absolute. Tyler points out that as of the AC there is no warrant for why rules are ~~intercept~~ ^{interrupt} than when Madeline brings up the warrant in the 1st. It is pointed out that it is not part of the responsible.

The extension of the definition of permissible, even if I allow a new cross-application, does not take out the turn hinges at the bottom of the case. Marilyn would not permit it even if necessary would - whether that is 50% of the time or 100% of the time.

Kristik analysis at bottom of K establishes K as primary reason of my decision, stone it argues equality as most important issue. AR does not cover this, nonetheless he argues this on ^{human} civil and I really have to then evaluate it as such. AR fails to argue that culpability comes first but that is not compatible with

COMMENTS & REASON FOR DECISION:

The NC arguments are contingent on winning the difference b/w positive and negative obligations but that part of the debate is sloppy out of the NC. You also need to respond to the top of the flow that says you can't prohibit actions. b/c of the conflict in the resolution that might get you into trouble later on.
NR: You need to be more responsive to the NC arguments b/c the turn on the subpoint A really isn't answered.
NR: What do I look @ first. Extend your examples on the positive/neg debate.
The AC needs to link back to some moral standard.

RFDs The armstrong + Nucetelli evidence don't give the way the aff wants it to. The evidence is not absolute it even says "Sometimes" so I give that there is a contradiction and I would never know when the person is supposed to act or if they would actually be culpable for that action. The 2AC & ever link back to morality b/c they wouldn't be culpable.
The NC does enough to prove that there is a delimitation b/w positive + negative rights b/c Rights would contradict.

~~Aff~~ : your argument : morality = domination
aff = domination \therefore morality = aff is a logical fallacy -- if $a = b$ and $c = b$, it does NOT follow at all that $a = c$.

Think: cats = mammals, dogs =
mammals — cats \neq dogs.

The neg wins that we ought to view individuals as separate from each other. (Quim#1) Quim#2 proves that taking the resolutional action would make individuals only means and destroy their personhood. The offense also goes away because the argument that ~~we~~ ^{breaches} ~~does not~~ ^{rules} have to be ~~the motivation for violating~~ for creating a new ⁱⁿ system

Prohibitive reason why can't kill. Either way, Kolby doesn't link to a std for me to evaluate it upon whereas the Neg gives me clear links to stds in the rd. This is the second time you've left the win up to one, very contested arg. I would suggest your strategy include more ways for you to win the round, or at least make your voter something that is not have tons of ink on it.

COMMENTS & REASON FOR DECISION:

RFD: The Neg does not address the conditional part of the AFF's advocacy until the second speech. The cross-applications of the NC to Coby are now. Your other argument (from the 1st speech) is not responsive to Coby - self-ownership is being explained in terms very similar to dignity. I think both of you are making very similar arguments and impacting back to a sense of human dignity. The AFF is letting the person rationally choose to kill himself to save others. I do not know how this bites into the complaint of the NC.

The NC is almost completely conceded but still does not take out how the ~~the~~ AFF position functions

I am not sure how the turns interact with the AFF advocacy either - almost all of his impacts are deontological in the way he extends them in the 1AR + 2AR.

Both: There seems to be a lack of awareness ~~in~~ in all parts of this round as to how arguments are interacting in terms of the ballot.

COMMENTS & REASON FOR DECISION:

ZAR time allocation was poor, not persuasive to say: "The AC was constructed to not link into this type of AC" - just explain why it doesn't link.

Neg wins standard but concedes combo. Aff position. Aff links to NC standard clearly in 1AR+2AR, neg extension of Kant not take out because extension of standard post deb rhetoric about respecting rationality of humans, ~~that~~ Aff links as articulated in 1AR+2AR.

Inaction/action debate was unclear & never linked to a standard or any evaluative mechanism,
